SAFETY AT SEA. CONFERENCE ENDS.

[Reuter's Service To The "Telegraph"]

London, Received January 21.
The International Conference on Safety at Sea has finally adopted the reports of the various Committees, and closes its sittings to-day.

The recommendations provide for lifeboats for all, subject to a British proviso that where the fullest use is made of the space available for fitting davits, pouton rafts may be provided for 25 per cent. of those aboard.

Later.
The Conference recommends the establishment of an international service for the purpose of ice-observation and the destruction of derelicts in the North Atlantic, under the control of the United States. It also recommends that all masters should report on dangerous ice and derelicts, and adopts the International Signal Code. It further recommends a number of construction rules regarding bulkheads and double bottoms, periodical survey of vessels, etc.

All vessels are divided into two classes—new and existing. The latter will be exempted from the rules according to the discretion of the authorities of the countries concerned.

The Conference recommends that all vessels with 50 or more people aboard must carry wireless installations, whose operation must be continuous for fast passenger steamers, and those voyaging over 500 miles, from port to port and seven hours a day for others.

BUSINESS REFORM.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S PLANS.

London, Received January 21.

A Washington wire states that President Wilson has sent a Message to Congress in reference to the Trusts, in the course of which he says he proposes to initiate legislation prohibiting interlocking directorates; empowering the Interstate Commerce Commission to regulate the raising of money by railroads; explicitly defining harmful restraints of trade, ensuring the penalties falling on the proper individuals; prohibiting so-called "holding companies;" and enabling individuals to sue for redress on facts proven and judgment given in Government suits.

President Wilson appeals to Congress to approach the subject in a spirit of friendliness and co-operation, as antagonism between business and the Government is now over and both are ready to meet half way in a common effort to adjust business methods to public opinion.

INDIAN CONSPIRACY.

CALCUTTA DISCOVERIES.

London, Received January 21.

Reuter's correspondent at Calcutta states that the police take a most serious view of the shooting of Sub. Inspector Dripend Ranath Ghose. It is now evident that there is a whole series of further nests of conspiracy in Northern Calcutta.

A COMMANDER'S DEATH

FOUND DEAD IN BUNK

London, Received January 21.

Commander Hamilton-Gordon, of the destroyer Thrasher, has been found dead in his bunk at Devonport.

THE NAVY. CANADA'S POLICY.

[Reuter's Service To The "Telegraph"]

London, Received January 21.
Reuter's correspondent at Ottawa states that in the Dominion House of Commons, Mr. Borden, the Premier, answering Sir Wilfrid Laurier, declared that the Senate's rejection of the Naval Bill had brought discredit to Canada, and a hostile majority in the Senate would not be given another opportunity to repeat the performance. He affirmed that when the Government is able to pass the Bill in the Senate it will be our duty to consult the Imperial Government concerning these grave and important considerations, and pointed out that if the Powers agreed to any restrictions of armaments, Canada would gladly review the position. Otherwise, she would proceed in due course to the construction of three ships. He reiterated that Canada's permanent naval policy would be submitted to a General Election as he had given a pledge.

"A" CLASS SUBMARINES.

"PRACTICALLY DEATH TRAPS."

London, Received January 21.

Colonel Morrison, the father of Sub-Lieut. Grant Morrison, who was one of the officers who lost his life in the disaster to submarine A7, writes to the Press, hoping to arouse public opinion to have the risks of submarines minimised. He describes the "A" class as obsolete, and says they are practically death-traps. He says it is incomprehensible that a great nation should permit her pluckiest sons being sacrificed in worn-out boats merely to satisfy Parliament as to the paper strength of the Navy.

Cessless trawling has failed to discover the submarine.

ULSTER'S CHAMPION.

A TELLING SPEECH.

London, Received January 20.

Sir Edward Carson made two speeches at Belfast yesterday. He was enthusiastically applauded when he said: "We owe no loyalty except to the King, and if need be we shall prostrate ourselves before the throne as loyal citizens, and ask our King to save us. I do not believe that an appeal is fair. There have been conversations, but I tell the Government that conversations or negotiations are no use, unless they give us a basis for the preservation of our rights under the Imperial Parliament. The last time I saw Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, a few weeks ago, he said: 'Do you know what I would do?' I said, 'No sir,' and he said: 'Fight it out.' And we will fight it out. God give us men at a time like this."

VICTORIAN LOAN.

FULLY SUBSCRIBED.

London, Received January 21.

The Victorian 4 per cent. Loan of a million sterling, at a price of 97, has been fully subscribed, and is quoted at one half per cent. premium.

This is symptomatic of the revival of the investment business.

THE KAISER'S HEALTH.

ILLNESS RUMOURS UNTRUE.

London, Received January 21.

Reuter's correspondent at Berlin states that the Kaiser is in the best of health, and the rumours that he is ill are untrue.

THE NAVAL QUESTION. GRAVE CABINET CRISIS.

[Reuter's Service To The "Telegraph"]

London, Received January 20.
The Daily Telegraph states on what it describes as "high authority," that a grave crisis exists in the Cabinet regarding Naval policy, the majority agreeing with Mr. Lloyd George, and opposing Mr. Churchill, the First Lord of the Admiralty.

The personal relations between Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Churchill are extremely strained and the resignation of one or the other from the Cabinet in the next few days is regarded as possible. Moreover, if Mr. Churchill is defeated in the Cabinet, the whole Board of Admiralty will resign.

The Cabinet discusses the subject on Thursday.

"Surmise and Gossip."

London, Received January 21.

Mr. Churchill has issued a statement declaring that all the newspaper statements about the Cabinet proceedings are based on surmise and gossip and should be uniformly distrusted. He also says the statement that the Board of Admiralty has expressed its intention of resigning is untrue.

When Mr. Churchill made the statement he and other members of the Admiralty were discussing the Estimates, and it is regarded as practically certain that the statement was made with the authority of the whole Board as well as of Mr. Churchill.

With regard to Mr. Lloyd George, it is stated on his behalf that he most certainly will not resign.

THE JAPANESE ERUPTIONS.

Another Official Telegram.

The following official telegram was received at the Japanese Consulate-General, Hongkong, regarding the eruptions in Japan, at 8 a.m. to-day:—

The official reports received up to the 18th. inst., sent by the Governor and officers of Kagoshima and despatched by the Home Ministry, show the extent of damage at Kagoshima to be as follows:—

The interior condition of the volcano may maintain its present state for some time to come, but, assuming that there is no longer any danger, a party of explorers is climbing the volcano. At Kuzun 840 houses, on one of the 18 sections in the island, are burned down, and many domestic animals are killed, but there are less casualties among the inhabitants than was expected. Besides at Sakurajima, there is damage reported from Kinotsuki and Kora districts, on account of the fallen ashes and pumice-stones, and consequently the inhabitants in these districts need assistance, in addition to the 20,000 sufferers in Kagoshima city. The death-roll in Kagoshima city is 18, including four in the neighbouring district, and other victims number 87 seriously wounded and 71 slightly injured. The other damage sustained in the city is 35 houses entirely destroyed, 113 half destroyed, besides many partly demolished, and damages to stone and wooden buildings and manufactures received no damage. Almost half of the refugees have already returned to the City, and the primary schools will open again within a few days. On the whole, the extent of the damage is not so serious as was at first reported.

The distress in the North East provinces and Hokkaido on account of the famine and inundations is less than was the case in 1905, while the total crop this year throughout the Empire is above the average.

THREE CONVICTS SHOT. DARING ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

[Reuter's Service To The "Telegraph"]

London, Received January 21.
Reuter's correspondent at Mo. Allister, Oklahoma, reports that three convicts in possession of revolvers seized the gaoler's keys and rushed the prison gates, firing at the guards and using a telephone girl as a living shield. They unlocked the gates and dropped the girl, who was wounded, and then jumped into a buggy. The guards fired a fusillade, and mounted guards kept up a running fight. They killed the convicts, while three guards and an ex-Congressman, who was visiting the prison, were also killed in the affray.

AUSTRALIAN NEWS.

Interesting Items from the Latest Mails.

We read that at least the Australian Government is doing something in the matter of aviation. Tenders have been called for the construction of hangars at Point Cook, Altona Bay (Victoria), and the work is to be put in hand, at once. Commenting on this, the Sydney Bulletin says, "E., presumably, if the aviators don't get too fat doing nothing, or forget their art in the long-time waiting, we shall have some flights in about another year. Still, it is better than nothing."

N. S. W. Wheat Yield.
According to a wheat harvest estimate issued by the Government Statisticians, 41,800,000 bushels of wheat may be reckoned on in New South Wales from 3,186,871 acres—an average of 13.3 bushels to the acre. This is an easily a record, last summer's yield (which was a record) being 32,425,813 bushels. The area now under wheat is also a record, and the estimated yield is worth 27,000,000.

The Case of a Chinese.

At the Sydney Court last month, application was made to Mr. Justice Sly to make absolute a rule nisi for the issue of a writ of habeas corpus, directing the master of the E. and A. steamer Empire (Capt. E. T. Picher) to release a Chinese named Lee Tan. It was stated in counsel's affidavit that Lee Tan visited China in 1904 and received a certificate of domicile under the Immigration Restriction Act, before leaving. The Customs Department, on his return to Australia, had refused him re-admission without payment of a deposit of £100.

It was pointed out that on the rule nisi (obtained earlier in the day) being served, the Captain had released the Chinese, who was then in Court.

The rule was made absolute by His Honour.

In subsequent proceedings in another Court, whereby Lee Tan was charged with being a prohibited immigrant, it was stated that the defendant had failed in the required dictation test. A remand was asked for, but the Magistrate dismissed the case, and Lee Tan was discharged.

The Christmas Mail.

Interesting figures in connection with the English Christmas mails have been issued by the Deputy Postmaster General at Sydney. These show that in 1911, seventeen odd tons of mail matter came at Christmas time; in 1912 there were twenty odd tons; and for 1913 the enormous quantity of 26 tons was to hand. The number of letters and cards received from England this Christmas totalled 551,621, this being 221,718 in excess of the number for 1912 and 267,618 above the total of 1911. There were also substantial increases in other classes of mail matter.

A NEW LINER. SOME MODERN FEATURES.

[Reuter's Service To The "Telegraph"]

London, Received January 21.
The Llandoverly Castle makes her maiden voyage to-morrow. An informal lunch was given to-day, followed by an inspection of the vessel.

She is a most luxurious steamer, and has a special tropical equipment for the East African trade. The new features include lifts, a Vienna cafe and a swimming bath.

QUESTION OF PERMISSION.

At the Police Court this afternoon, four Chinese named Wong Hon Shi, Wong Tsoi-shi, Wong He-shi, and Wong Ng, all females, were summoned for maintaining, without the consent of the Governor in Council, a verandah projected over a street less than fifty feet wide.

Mr. P. M. Hodgson, Assistant Crown Solicitor, prosecuted, and Mr. K. C. Jenkin, instructed by Mr. Needham, of Messrs. Ewens and Needham, defended.

Mr. Hodgson said that the street in question, Queen's Road West, was like many other streets in the Colony, under fifty feet wide, and it was on the representation of the original owners that the street was over fifty feet wide that the order of the Governor in Council was given. The property was sold to the present owners and in the course of alterations it was found that the street was not fifty feet wide. The Governor could not give permission unless the street was fifty feet wide. The Building Authority did not wish to compel the defendants to remove the verandah, because they realised what a hardship it would be on them. Had he been dealing with the original owners he would have dealt quite differently with the matter.

The case was proceeding as we went to press.

DISMISSED.

Opium Case Falls Through.

A man and woman were charged before Mr. Wood at the Police Court this morning, with being in unlawful possession of opium. The amount of the opium was forty-five teels, the woman being concerned with forty, and the man five.

Mr. R. C. Faithfull defended the woman, and Mr. Dixon, of Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist, defended the man.

It appeared that a man engaged the woman's sampan to take himself and his baggage to a ship. A Revenue Officer came on the scene and the man ran away. The charges were dismissed.

BALLAST BOAT SUNK.

We have been informed that a ballast boat broke away from its mooring last night and was washed up against Holt's Wharf, Kowloon. A sampan, we are told, also capsized in the squall of this morning. No persons have been reported drowned.

General Holiday.

A Government Gazette Extraordinary issued yesterday notified that His Excellency the Governor-in-Council has, under Section 7 of the Holiday Ordinance, 1912, (Ordinance No. 5 of 1912), appointed Tuesday, the 27th day of January, 1914, to be observed as a General Holiday. A further notification exempted the Police Magistrates' Department from the operation of the Ordinance on that day.

[From our own Correspondent.]

Standard Oil Barge Looted.

Canton, January 19.
A few days ago a Standard Oil Company's barge which was taking oil up to Sam King Hon in the Pan U District was attacked by pirates and its cargo removed. The matter was reported to the American Consul who thereupon requested the Governor General and the Civil Administrator to take strict measures to have the pirates arrested. The matter is being attended to.

Cantonese Aviator.
Since the death of Mr. Fung-u, a Cantonese aviator, no successor in the art has appeared. It is learned, however, that a Sunningite named Mr. Lui, who has been taught flying in Japan, is making preparation for an aerial exhibition at the Parade Ground outside the Eastern Gate of Canton.

Increase of Salary.

Information is to hand that the Premier, in consideration of the fact that the salary for the Civil Administrators is too little, has applied to the President that a monthly increase of $150 be allowed to each of them. The application has been approved by the President.

Vice-President's Recommendation.

The Canton Government has received a special telegram from Peking to the effect that the Vice-President has strongly recommended Mr. Li Hoi-sin to fill the post of Civil Administrator permanently. Mr. Chan Chi Shuang's resignation, having been accepted by the President.

Religion in China.

The present movement for the establishment of Confucianism as the State religion represents the rebound from the state of affairs that provoked the fears of General Li and Arohdeau Moule, while the plea of the latter that China's educational system should be on a Christian basis has not been affected prejudicially by the changes that he deprecates—it will certainly be no more difficult nor less likely of attainment under the Republic than it would have been thirty or forty years ago.
The extent to which China's educational system has been Westernized is often exaggerated.
Be that as it may, Arohdeau Moule's warning to China against adopting clothes that the West has already outgrown is not out of place. At the one end of the scale, we have the irreligious, ultra-occidental educational system, to which he imagines China may fall a victim, and at the other end stands "the old framework and its ancient drapery, supplemented and expanded in history, geography, mathematics and science generally and the great textbook of all, the Word of God... introduced," which he longs to see, and it is between these two extremes that China will steer her course.

Engineering in China.

It is unfortunate but nevertheless true that British firms are, generally speaking, at a complete loss when confronted with the laborious and exact, if somewhat routine-ridden, methods of their continental competitors. No general rules are of any use to them except such as they may have elaborated for themselves out of their own experience, and, as the nimble-witted continental is by no means averse to profiting by the experiences of others, it has come about that all over the world the British trader and engineer have opened the way for others to come in to reap the fruit of his labours. While there is much to be said in favour of British doggedness and pertinacy as a general principle, it must be realised that there is a limit to the extent upon which established customs and methods, even though successful in the past, may be relied, and British supremacy, as an engineering country, is in jeopardy unless there arises a disposition on the part of British manufacturers to realize their own shortcomings and the urgent necessity for meeting continental competition in the Far East with the weapons
it uses.

China Mail.

The China-Mongolian Question.

In a recent issue of the Christian Science Monitor, there appeared an interesting article on the subject of how "Russia keeps up its work in Mongolia." In it the writer, in discussing the China Mongolian question, stated that both in its national and international aspect the China-Mongolian question is full of difficulties at present, and holds within itself the seeds of many more in the future. "When you are one against ten," a Chinese diplomatist said recently, "what can you do? If China were strong, wealthy, and united, she would either obtain her own terms from Russia or she would fight; but she is none of the three. Fighting means defeat and so she makes the best terms she can." History is full of events which go to show that agreements made thus, in stress of circumstance, are never final. They are either swept away by some great reversal of position, or slowly and steadily violated till the existing circumstance finds no place in the original provision. In the case of Mongolia, the former is unlikely, the latter almost certain.

Among the latest additions to the Zoological Gardens is a male pigmy hippopotamus from Liberia. This little creature, which the Duke of Bedford bought from Mr. Carl Hagenbeck and presented to the Gardens, has reached London in the best of health and condition. It will be a companion for the female of the same species received in February.

Entente Cordiale.

A peculiar and little-known fact concerning the New Hebrides is that the islands have the unique distinction of issuing postage stamps under the auspices of two nations. The present administration is by an Anglo-French "Condominium," and the stamps, which resemble in design the standard French colonial type, bear both the British Royal cypher and the emblem of the Republic.

Bullets in head for six months.

A sequel to a sensational London shooting occurred at Dudley when George Henry Clee, aged 32, a commercial traveller, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, died in the infirmary as a result of a revolver shot in the head. On June 2 Clee, while driving in a taxi-cab through Oxford street, he shot himself and was taken to Middlesex Hospital. He was subsequently discharged and went to Dudley with relatives. The doctors were unable to extract the bullets.

Chinese Coffee Shops.

The American Consul at Singapore states in a recent report that in 1909 there were registered in the Singapore municipality 629 coffee shops, while in 1913 there have increased to 827. These coffee shops are patronised by the Chinese population, and the opinion has been expressed that the substantial increase in an indication of a gradual change in the diet of the Chinese of this class. Possibly, he adds, it indicates an increased demand for foods made of wheat flour.

Memorial to Benjamin Franklin.

It is proposed to commemorate Benjamin Franklin in the church of St. Bartholomew the Great, West Smithfield, the parish in which he worked as a printer. There are five cramped niches in the east wall of the Lady Chapel, restored in 1897, waiting for figures of female saints, and it has been proposed that the gift of one or more such figures might form a suitable commemoration of Franklin's association with the building. A tablet, suitably inscribed, will be placed to indicate the object of the memorial.

Finger Prints.

A great compliment has been paid to Scotland Yard by the request of the Paris Chief of Police for information regarding the English finger print system, which M. Hennion appears to think of adopting. This is due to the fact that, while the French police possess the finger prints of the Italian who stole "La Gioconda" they were not able to identify his thumb marks. The system introduced by Sir Edward Henry is an improvement on the Bertillon method, inasmuch as a "wanted" person can be traced by any finger or thumb mark which he leaves behind him.

Industrial Census of Natal.

In the absence of a Government statistical bureau it is extremely difficult to obtain accurate information regarding the annual development of the important industries of the South African Union. The following figures relating to the Province of Natal have been taken from the Census returns for May, 1911, which have recently been published. At that time, the occupied lands of Natal aggregated 10,333,112 acres, of which 1,019,764 acres were under cultivation, 228,411 acres were lying fallow, and 9,086,937 acres were used as grazing land. The various factory industries numbered 360. Some of these industries—namely sugar-making, soap-making, brewing and dairying—have been enlarged to a considerable extent since the date of the Census.

THE NAVY LEAGUE.

Admonished by Mr. Churchill for Partisan Speeches at Non-Party Gathering.

The following is the correspondence which passed between Mr. Churchill and the Navy League on the subject of an invitation from the League to the First Lord to attend a luncheon in honour of Captain Halliday and the officers of H.M.S. New Zealand—Admiralty, S.W., 10th December, 1913.

Sir,—I am desired by the First Lord of the Admiralty to say that he has noticed with regret that on several recent occasions speeches have been delivered at Navy League dinners to which he and other members of the Board of Admiralty have been invited which have been of a very controversial and partisan character, wholly unsuited to a professedly non-party gathering. The speech of the Earl of Selborne on the 21st October in particular was incompatible with the conditions indispensable to a non-party gathering and contrary to the usages of hospitality. Other members of the Board of Admiralty have on previous occasions found themselves obliged to listen when guests of the Navy League to criticisms and attacks upon the naval policy of the Board, and in the absence of any assurance that these circumstances of offence will not recur the First Lord desires me to say that he regrets that it will not be possible for him or his colleagues on the Board to accept any hospitalities from the Navy League.—Yours, &c.,

(Signed) E. MARSH.

The Navy League's Reply.

The Navy League, 11, Victoria Street, S.W., December 17, 1913.

The Right Hon. Winston S. Churchill, M.P.,

First Lord of the Admiralty.

Sir,—I have the honour to acknowledge receipt of a communication from your private secretary of this day's date, and in reply would like to point out that the Navy League has no control whatever over the form and substance of the speeches delivered by the guests whom they invite to their various functions. I would, however, like to assure you that in the case of gentlemen invited to speak on such occasions strong representations have invariably been made that their observations should be entirely non-party in character, and nobody regrets more than the Executive Committee of the Navy League that there should have been any departure from this arrangement.

I can give you at all events the fullest assurance that no member of the Executive Committee and no officer or official of the League has ever used on these occasions any criticisms of either the Board of Admiralty or of yourself as First Lord. You will understand it is exceedingly difficult with a non-party organisation like this, where an earnest endeavour is being made to bring together all sections of public opinion in the interest of the fleet to prevent from time to time incidents of the kind to which your letter takes place.

You will remember that when you were invited to the Trafalgar Day banquet the president of the League undertook that so far as any person directly connected with this movement was concerned no view would be expressed to which exception would be taken by yourself or by any representative of the Admiralty, but he was obliged to point out that he could obviously give no assurance of the same kind for invited guests from outside, although every endeavour would be made to prevent any unpleasant or unsuitable comment being embodied in speeches.

I venture to suggest that, in view of the importance of giving Captain Halliday and his officers a worthy reception in London on the conclusion of their historic voyage, it would be fitting that yourself and your colleagues should be present, and I think I can give you the most absolute assurance that nothing in the remotest degree referring to Admiralty policy or the attitude of the Government towards defence problems will be referred to. The occasion will be wholly devoted to a welcome to the officers of the Dominion ship, and will, it is hoped, make the people of New Zealand feel that in this country appreciate the kindness and hospitality which were extended to the officers and crew of the battle cruiser during its visit to their waters. In these circumstances I venture to express the hope that you will reconsider your decision and do the Navy League the honour to be present at the luncheon at the Hotel Cecil on Tuesday next at 130—I have the honour, &c.,

(Signed) P. J. HANNON, Secretary.

The Invitation Accepted.

Admiralty, S.W., December 12, 1913.

Sir,—I am desired by the First Lord to thank you for your letter of the 10th inst., and to say that provided he may publish the correspondence which has passed he will have great pleasure in accepting the invitation of the Navy League for December 16.—Yours, &c.,

(Signed) E. MARSH.

Settlers for British Guyana.

With an area of 290,500 square miles, British Guyana has at present only 298,041 inhabitants, or an average of 3.3 persons per square mile. All attempts to develop the undoubtedly great resources of the Colony must necessarily prove very difficult while the population remains so small. Under normal conditions, development and an increasing population go hand in hand, but tropical countries require a particular sort of settler. The British Guyana Planters' Association is said to have been considering the advisability of welcoming Japanese immigrants, in view of the success which appears to have attended their settlement in South America.

MEN FOR THE NAVY.

Hongkong has a deep and vital interest in the Navy. That being the case, all true Britishers in this Far Eastern outpost will be gratified to learn that during the year just ended there has been quite a boom in recruiting for the senior Service. Compared with previous years there has been an immense increase in the number of boys and men who offered themselves for service as seamen and artisans in the Fleet. Indeed, the official organ of the Navy League advances the statement that 1913 will have a larger number of recruits to its credit than has been the case in any year since the long-service system of voluntary recruiting was adopted over half a century ago. That, assuredly, is evidence of the claim that British naval traditions can be fully maintained by the operation of voluntary methods, and it goes to show that, grow as the Navy will, and must, there is no dearth of youths and men to man our ships.

But no voluntary system can last unless sufficient inducements, in the way of pay and facilities for promotion, are held out to recruits. And there can be little doubt that the agreeable state of affairs to which we have made reference is, in large part, a direct result of the wise policy of the Admiralty in increasing the pay of the men of the lower deck and in placing commissions within the reach of competent men in the Service. What this means is that a well-educated boy of good character can look forward to promotion to the rank of lieutenant, with pay amounting to £270 per annum, and with allowances which may reach £200 per annum in addition, besides a retiring pension of £200 a year. That, as The Navy well points out, must tend enormously to enhance the popularity of the sea forces and raise the quality of the personnel. And the scheme is well under way, too; for during the past year nearly sixty petty officers and warrant officers who entered the Navy as ordinary boys have been selected to qualify as acting mates, and will soon be raised to the rank of commissioned officers.

The sea is a fine career for any British lad, and it is comforting to realise that the old spirit is still with the race. It has been proved that we can find the men. But men without ships are of small avail. And for that reason we hope the "Little Navy" politicians will speedily perceive that it has misjudged the feelings of the people. The race in armaments must continue; it is inevitable. There will be set-backs for the statesmen of large views, very possibly, but we believe the majority of the people will give these latter their support. Men are not waiting for the Navy; and the money wherewith to build the ships must also be forthcoming.

Silence Necessary.

We had occasion to use the Hongkong City Hall Library quite recently and, if there was one thing more than another that impressed itself upon us, it was the disregard for silence. In consequence great annoyance was caused to those who were using the library for the purpose for which it was instituted, and not as a meeting place for those who had arguments to settle or opinions to exchange. In the first place, a party of Chinese had a difference over something or other, and it was only when we called out to them that the noise quietened. But it only quietened. It did not cease. Then two non-European came, along at the table at which we were seated; and commenced a discourse on a topic that had arisen through an item of news in a morning paper. If there is a need for silence at any place, it is certainly in a public library.

Reckless Chauffeurs.

On more occasions than one we have called attention to instances of reckless motor driving which have been brought to our knowledge, but still chauffeurs can be seen driving with the utmost disregard for the safety of the public. On Saturday morning we were passing down Morrison Hill Road, just approaching the Monument, when a motor car swung round the corner, coming from the Racecourse, at a terrific speed. It was dark at the time, and the road contained numerous Chinese on their way to town with garden produce, and for a moment several of the pedestrians were in danger. The car passed so close to our ricksha that it practically skimmed the outside wheel. Another inch and the impact would have been sufficient to cause an accident that would certainly have been serious. It is time this mad rushing was checked. The owners of cars cannot, of course, be blamed for the acts of their servants, but a few salutary sentences on the latter should work wonders.

The Supply of Radium.

The other day we published a telegram outlining a protest, delivered by Dr. Lazarus Barlow, against the difficulty of obtaining radium and against its abnormally high price. We now read of some interesting statements which have been made before the Society of Civil Engineers in Paris by M. Paul Blesson on the extent of the available supply of this precious substance at the moment. He states that the latest statistics show that there are not more than six or seven grammes of metallic radium in the scientific and medical laboratories of the whole world. From the creation of the radium industry in 1890, up to 1901, only two or three grammes of radium were extracted from 13 tons of pitch blende residues, and these were supplied to the laboratory of M. and Mme. Curie.

£38,000 A Gramme

Since then the Austrian Government has prohibited the exportation of radio-active ore from Joachimthal, and radium has had to be extracted from much poorer ores in France, Portugal and Colorado. According to M. Blesson, Austria has not in recent years treated more than three to four tons of pitch blende annually, yielding less than one gramme per year. As to the price of this valued material, this is put at the moment by M. Blesson as about £38,000 for one gramme of pure metallic radium. The chief holder of radium, we are told, is Mme. Curie, with about 2.6 to 3 grammes; and after her comes Sir Ernest Cassel. There are interesting facts when taken in conjunction with the telegrams to which reference is made.

WUCHANG LAUNCHED.

Successful Ceremony at Taikoo Dockyard.

There was a particularly large gathering of ladies and gentlemen present at the launch of the s.s. Wuchang which took place under the auspices of the builders, the Taikoo Dockyard and Engineering Company of Hongkong Limited, yesterday afternoon in glorious weather. The christening ceremony was performed by Mrs. Edkins who, immediately the vessel commenced to slide waterwards, smashed the champagne bottle against the ship's bow. As the vessel glided gracefully into the water the whole party cheered and the Chinese fired crackers.

The Vessel.

The steel twin-screw steamer Wuchang, has been built to the order of the China Navigation Co., Ltd., for their Shanghai and Yangtze trade. The vessel is of the awning deck type, the principal dimensions being as follows:—Length over all 331 feet, breadth moulded 48 feet, depth moulded to awning deck 23 feet 3 inches, gross tonnage about 3,200. The "Wuchang" is built of Siemens-Martin steel to Lloyd's scantlings for special service and equipped to carry of Trade requirements. There are four decks, viz.:—upper, awning, promenade, and shade. The upper and awning decks run continuous from stem to stern, and the promenade and shade decks from midships to stern. The tween decks are arranged for cargo, and have special rooms for carrying mails, silk, opium and treasure.

Accommodation is fitted in a large steel deckhouse on the awning deck for Chinese passengers—16 first-class, 36 second-class, and 154 third-class. The crew are berthed forward under the awning deck. Two wood houses are fitted on the promenade deck, one forward for the Captain's accommodation, and one aft containing officers' and engineer's rooms and dining saloon. The total income was $15,980.18 as against an expenditure of $13,510.74, leaving a balance of $2,469.44. The endowment fund amounts to $15,755.28 and the reserve funds stands at $1,045. The organ rebuilding fund and choir fund show balances of $455.31 and $355.09 respectively.

Two sets of triple-expansion engines of the builder's own make are being installed, capable of developing 1800 I.H.P., steam being supplied by two large cylindrical boilers working under forced draft on the heated-air closed-ashpit system, the steam used being superheated by Schmidt's system. The vessel is expected to develop a speed of 12 knots on trial.

After the Launching.

The company then assembled in a specially prepared room and were entertained to refreshments.

Mr. Edkins proposed the toast of the day "The Wuchang" and doing so said:—"On behalf of the owners and builders I desire to express their pleasure at your attendance here to-day. It is a further pleasure to have to have so many ladies with us to grace the occasion (applause). This is not a time when I want to keep you with many words, but before asking you to wish good fortune to the vessel we have just seen launched it is perhaps opportune to remark on a feature in Hongkong shipbuilding to which she contributes. I mean that in the past few months the number of vessels launched from our neighbours' yards and here will very likely in their aggregate tonnage constitute a record shipbuilding output for Hongkong (hear, hear). Matters do not rest there, for on both sides of the harbour there are other new ships on the stocks which bid fair to make 1914 a record shipbuilding year. While this is gratifying to those especially associated with shipbuilding, it is also of general interest in the bearing the turnover of wages for labour and other expenditure has to the prosperity of Hongkong in which we are all concerned. I may say we hope to see an output of close on 10,000 tons of new shipping this year from this yard. (Applause.)

Toasting the Vessel.

With regard to the "Wuchang" herself, I believe she is one of the two largest ships yet built in Hongkong. She is intended for trade on the Yangtze, and designed for carriage of considerable cargo on light draft. I believe she will prove a credit to her designers and to the workmen who have constructed her. Her plating and general workmanship in its class will, I am sure, bear comparison with the output of any yard. You have seen her launched on the face of the waters, and I would ask you to wish her a successful career in the usual manner. Ladies and gentlemen, I give you the toast "Good Luck to the good ship Wuchang."

Mr. Reid then proposed the health of Mrs. Edkins referring to the very graceful and accomplished way in which she had performed the duty. He was then they would all agree that Mrs. Edkins made a very good job of breaking the bottle. (Laughter and applause.)

MISSIONARY EFFORT.

Annual General Meeting of Hongkong Association.

The annual general meeting of the Hongkong Missionary Association was held yesterday evening at the St. Stephen's Girls' School when Pastor Muller presided. The officers elected for the year were:—Chairman, Pastor Muller; vice chairman, Mr. McPherson, and hon. sec. Mr. Elliott. The Rev. T. W. Pearce gave an interesting account of the work done by the Kwangtung Christian Council and paid a tribute to the influence that the visit of Dr. John R. Mott had had on the conduct of business. An amusing remark was made by the speaker when dealing with the work of the various committees. He was chairman of the literary committees which decided that the books issued needed bringing up to date as regarded their covers, contents, and—small; for he was almost convinced that the Chinese bought their books by smell as much as by anything else. (Laughter)

The meeting closed with a paper read on Sunday School work.

ALTERATIONS NEEDED.

A House that is Unfit to Live In.

At the Police Court, this morning, Mr. Wood told a Chinese that the Sanitary Board said that his house 35, Elgin Street, was too dark and unfit to live in. He had been told to alter the premises or cease living there. A Sanitary Board Inspector had visited the place and found people still living there.

Defendant said he had given instructions to an architect to make the necessary alterations. The case was remanded.

FRENCH LEAVE.

Fruit Dealer Defies the Law.

At the Police Court, this morning, Mr. Traiman, head of the Sanitary Department, in charging a Chinese with selling fruit without a licence said that man originally had a licence, but he was given notice, owing to his having caused a nuisance, that his licence would not be renewed after December 31. He had made an application for an extension, but this had been refused. He had however taken French leave. A fine of $10 was imposed.

and applause.) He felt sure that she had been experimenting and rehearsing during the two previous days (laughter.) Nevertheless Mrs. Edkins performed the ceremony very gracefully and he thought they would all agree that it was a long time since they had seen a bottle so well broken (applause.) He asked them to drink to the health of Mrs. Edkins (applause.)

After the toast had been honoured, Mr. Reid said he had further pleasure in asking Mrs. Edkins to accept a souvenir of the occasion (a beautiful gold bracelet.) Mr. Young then in a short speech expressed the great pleasure it had given the company to see so many ladies and gentlemen present at that ceremony. They had all attended that day to assist in wishing the ship "good luck" and he sincerely hoped he would have the pleasure of having them there to attend the christening of many more steamers (loud applause.) The proceedings then concluded.

Fire Outbreak.

A small fire broke out yesterday evening at No 60 Chatham Road, Hungnam, alleged to have been caused by a man under the influence of drink knocking over a kerosene lamp. The fire was put out by the police and the inmates, the damage being trifling.

SUBMARINE PROPULSION.

Instructive Lecture by Professor Smith.

Last evening in the old Chamber of Commerce Hall, Professor C. A. M. Smith gave an interesting lecture on Submarines before an exceptionally large audience in connection with the Hongkong Odd Volumes Society. The Hon. Mr. H. E. Pollock K. C. presided, and there were also present H. E. the Governor, and Lady May, Sir Charles Elliott, Bishop Lander, Mrs. Pollock, Mr. J. H. Kemp, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Pattenden, Mr. E. A. Irving, Commodore Anstruther, Dr. F. Clark, Mr. W. E. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Eschwick and Mr. and Mrs. McPherson. In introducing the lecturer the chairman said that the recent accident which had taken place off Plymouth brought home very forcibly to each one of them the very heavy debt which all of them owed to those who risked their lives in the service of the Empire. While it was inevitable that such accidents should occur, he thought it was at least reasonable for them to hope and expect that with the continual progress of engineering, concerning which no doubt the lecturer would have a great deal to say, such accidents would be in the future far less frequent than they had been in the past.

Submarine and Torpedo.

Professor Smith at the outset of an interesting address, which was illuminated with lantern slides, drew attention to the similarities that existed between the submarine and the torpedo, comparing the two by means of diagrams. The submarine, he remarked, was suggested as far back as three hundred and fifty years ago when the man who experimented was an Englishman who did his work in the Thames. The great discovery of Daimler of the use of oil for motive purposes was the first great step towards submarine propulsion. Attempts had been made with steam to propel airships heavier than air but it never entered the region of practical politics because of the excessive waste of material. When it became certain that oil could be used, then the development of the submarine entered upon an entirely new phase.

The A Type.

The first vessel that was taken to the British Admiralty was the combined effort of an American named Holland and the well known firm of Messrs. Vickers, Sons and Maxim. It was quite certain that previous to that the Admiralty had been watching what had been going on with the other nations but it was on the arrival of these boats that they derived the most valuable information—experience. After the Holland came the A type, which, as so many of them knew, had met with unfortunate accidents. In one case a submarine was going through the water with the conning tower open when salt water entered the vessel and mixing with the contents of the storage batteries caused the giving off of Chlorine.

Various Types.

The lecturer then explained the periscope and the various types of submarine that had been attempted, from one made in the Thames propelled by "man-power," to the "Davids" which attacked the "Goliaths" in the American war. This particular craft was propelled by oars and had on a pole projecting from the bows a charge of explosive which ignited on being rammed against the vessel. The attempt was only partially successful because in after years when salvage operations were carried out the little vessel was found sunk by the side of her victim.

Other ingenious attempts were shown and the lecturer concluded by a very clear explanation of the electron theory enunciated by a scientist at Cambridge. This is to the effect that the hitherto accepted theory, that the atom was the smallest unit known in chemistry, had to give place to the electron, it being advanced that all matter was composed of small units of electricity. The effects of science were now

TRAINING NOTES.

A Cold and Trying Morning at the Course.

From early this morning until about seven o'clock a fierce though warm wind swept the course, but after the last mentioned hour it turned to ribbly cold and made things rather uncomfortable. Both inside and outside courses were used this morning, owners being desirous of getting the work finished in good time. On the outside course the bambos were up and no doubt this fact had some effect on the time. Treff went remarkably well and was one of the best performers of the morning. The times, however, do not count for over much as the wind played a great part in the work.

Preparations are now being made for the meeting, and the skeletons of the bamboo stands and booths are being rapidly put up.

LOG BOOK.

Sold to Java.

The sea-going crewing John Elizabeth, of 200 h.p., built in 1913, provided with triple-expansion engines, has been sold at Rotterdam to buyers in Java.

Went Ashore.

The Japanese steamer Yabiko Maru, from Moji, went ashore on January 6 while entering the harbour at Dairen but was floated on the following day without having sustained serious damage.

New Name.

The Norwegian steamer Dagny which has been purchased by Messrs. Chingkee & Co. of Chefoo, has been renamed the Teles and her foreign officers and engineers have been replaced by Japanese.

Capt. Jorgensen.

Captain S. P. Jorgensen, who has resigned his position in the Whangpoo Conservancy works to join the Pilots' Association, received from the Board a letter of thanks and a handsome bonus for his services.

New Cargo Boats.

The Nippon Yusen Kaisha is reported to have placed orders for six cargo steamers for the newly opened route from Manchuria to Europe. Two of these steamers, which will be of about 7,500 tons gross, have been ordered from Japanese yards and four will be built abroad.

Panama Possibilities.

It is reported that on the opening of the Panama Canal the New Zealand Shipping Company, and the Shaw, Savill and Albion Company will probably run a joint service with regular sailings between New Zealand ports and ports on the East Coast of North America.

Wireless In The South Seas.

The first section of the German wireless telegraph system in the South Seas has just been opened to public use with the inauguration of the stations on the islands of Yap and Nauru. Telegrams on Nauru are despatched by cable as far as Yap, and are sent on thence by wireless telegraphy.

Rescued by the Manchuria.

While between Nagasaki and Woosung on December 8 the P.M. steamer Manchuria sighted a disabled fishing boat, the crew of which were making signals of distress. The liner bore down on them and, the sea being too heavy to lower a boat, the ship was allowed to drift down on her and the crew of six, together with twenty-eight passengers, were taken on board and brought on to Woosung.

Wireless Requirements.

An Order in Council has been issued by the Zealand Government to the effect that ships registered in New Zealand and carrying passengers shall be equipped with apparatus for transmitting messages by wireless telegraphy. Every steamship registered in New Zealand and carrying passengers, engaged in foreign or inter-colonial trade, except steamships trading to the Auckland, Chatham, or Campbell Islands, and every home-trade steamship which is authorised by her ordinary survey certificate to carry not less than 150 passengers at sea, shall not leave or attempt to leave any New Zealand port unless she is equipped with an efficient apparatus for radio communication, in good working order. The range of the apparatus must not be less than 100 miles, day or night. The regulations, which came into force on Jan. 10, further provide that power necessary to transmit signals shall at all times be available for the wireless operator's use. For a breach of the regulations the master or owner of a ship is liable to a fine not exceeding £50.

The Peking Syndicate.

The report of the Peking Syndicate to June 30 last states that the receipts were $51,369, and a balance remained of $17,814. This added to credit of profit and loss account, brings credit balance to $453,253, which the directors propose be dealt with as last year and carried forward. Considering the troublous time through which China has been passing during the period under review, the directors consider that good progress has been made in developing the mines in Honan, especially as operations were greatly retarded and production reduced owing to heavy rush of water in Nos. 4 and 5 pits, whilst later there was also an influx at pit No. 2. The output was necessarily reduced to a very large extent. There is an increase in the value of the company's properties in China, especially of those in Hankow and Pukow.

As regards the former, the proximity of the Peking-Hankow line, with its rapidly increasing traffic, and the contemplated construction of a bridge between Hankow and Wuchang, has naturally enhanced the value of the company's land, an increase of value which the directors anticipate has by no means reached its limit. The Chinese authorities have recently decided to establish a thoroughly equipped up-to-date port at Pukow, and the company's adjoining lands should largely appreciate as a natural sequence. These works are to be entrusted to the Banque Industrielle de Chine, a contract having been signed between the bank and the Chinese Government for a loan of $8,000,000, out of the proceeds of which the works in question will be first taken in hand.

In commenting on the formation of the bank, the report states the Banque Industrielle de Chine was established on July 5 last, a few days after the date to which the accounts are brought up. The Peking Syndicate has subscribed for 1,000 founders' shares and 15,350 ordinary shares of the bank, an investment the directors have good reason to believe is a promising one. As a result of the new under-taking the company will have achieved a better apportionment of its capital between banking, mining and railway interests.

Moreover, the close connection of this British company with a French bank whose chief shareholder is the Chinese Government should create a system of co-operation and profit-sharing between the capitalists of both countries, and the Chinese officials, and should prove advantageous to all three parties. The Chinese Central Railway, Ltd., have recently resumed their former activities, and have already obtained the concession of the Hsinyang-Fengyang Railway against a loan of three millions sterling. As the shareholders are aware, the Peking Syndicate has approximately a one-fifth interest in the company in question, and the directors have good reason to hope that the industrial era which appears to be rising in China will secure a considerable profit for that portion of the company's invested capital.

"Fool-Proof" Airplane.

Mr. Orville Wright was entertained at dinner by the New York Aero Club to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the first flight made with an heavier-than-air machine by the brothers Wright. Addressing the gathering, he foreshadowed an important development in flying. He said he hoped to put on the market in the spring a stabiliser which would render flying fool-proof, and which would be better than human hands in maintaining the equilibrium of the machine. He claimed that his invention would abolish "stalling," which is the cause of 95 per cent. of the accidents, and would practically make flying possible for all.

Tsingtau Company Falls.

According to the China Critic, the German Chinese Silk Industry Company, of Tsingtau and Berlin, is to be wound up. Most of the assets of the company were acquired by the firm of H. Diederichsen and Co., of Hamburg, which firm has already sold the Tsingtau mill. The last balance sheet showed that £87,500 out of the fully paid-up capital of £100,000 had been lost.

The Cotton Market.

Mr. A. B. Rosenfeld, Shanghai, writes as follows in his weekly report of the 16th inst.:

China Cotton.—Since my last report was issued the market has been rather quiet, with a few stray enquiries for local consumption and prices moved within a comparatively narrow range, with the close last night's quotation a few points up. Receipts from the interior marts are almost nil, and no business of consequence is expected till after the Chinese New Year.

The only topic of interest amongst the Chinese merchants is the future probabilities, and the general feeling seems to be that prices will keep firm as soon as the market has shaped itself after the festivities, and about there be no setback to the trade from political reasons there is every belief of a continuance of strong markets for the far future. The spot situation continues firm and without questioning the report of the stocks held by farmers, which the market will undoubtedly accept as representing approximately the balance of the crop, I cannot, however, refrain from commenting on the disparity which the farmers' figures show as far as that is concerned. With present system of estimating the crop in percentages, absolute accuracy can hardly be expected, but the difference in this case is so striking of the short commitments from the interior marts as compared with last season's combined with the attitude of the farmers on account of the low prices prevailing which makes business almost impossible. However, this may be, the disturbing influence of such rumors as have been adopted by them is likely to be injurious to legitimate trade interests, and it is hoped that the market will be spared further surprises during the season.

As to the future course of the market the same will continue to be governed chiefly by the trade prospects coupled by exchange reports and mill takings, and even under most unfavorable conditions it seems improbable that any attempt will be made at the present time to force a return to materially lower prices, while the future holds out every prospect for a continuance of firm markets.

UNHEEDED PLEA.

Solicitor Puts Forward Extenuating Circumstances.

Before Mr. Wood, at the Police Court, this morning, a man named Sam Ling-chi, from Canton, was charged with having twenty tael of opium in his possession, being fifteen more than allowed by his permit.

Mr. Heywood (Mr. L. D'Almeida e Castro) defended, and in stating his defence said his client was an opium smoker—and he lived in Canton, but could not get opium there. Consequently he became very sick and he came to Hongkong and bought twenty tael of opium and he was on his way to Taipo to smoke it when he was arrested. He was then very sick. This was only a technical offence—it was not an opium farmer's prosecution; it was simply that he did not get permission from Mr. Hutchison. When it was realised that, after March 1, the Government would permit of the possession of twenty tael, it would be seen how trivial and how merely technical the offence was.

His Worship:—How long was he down here for?

Mr. Heywood said that he was down here for just sufficient time to smoke a certain quantity of opium and then he would go back. His Worship knew that if confirmed opium smokers could not get opium they become very sick—even in jail they were allowed opium water. It could be seen that the man was sick now, and five tael were not sufficient; he had to have twenty. If the "offence" were committed after March 1, there would really be no offence at all, and therefore he would ask his Worship to acquit the man.

His Worship:—The Ordinance is to prevent dealing in opium.

Mr. Heywood:—There is no question of dealing here, at all. It is not even alleged, and the facts are not even in dispute. If you like I will put him in the witness-box, but I don't think it necessary.

His Worship:—Seven hundred and fifty dollars.

Sergeant Lanigan:—May I ask for half the fine to go to the informer in case the sum is paid?

Mr. Heywood:—Seven hundred and fifty; do you seriously suggest that, do you?

His Worship:—That is the fine, Mr. Heywood.

Mr. Heywood:—Seventy-five?

His Worship:—No, seven hundred and fifty.

Mr. Heywood:—I shall appeal; that's all.

His Worship:—Yes, half the fine to be awarded to the informer.

Later Mr. Heywood made an application for the return of five tael of the opium seized, stating that he was charged only with having fifteen tael over the amount allowed, and he had a licence for five tael and had paid for them.

His Worship said that he followed the point.

Mr. Hogarth said the opium went to the Crown.

Mr. Heywood argued that clearly the Crown was only entitled to fifteen tael and not twenty—the law said he could have five tael. Fifteen went to the Government and the man was entitled to five.

A MUSICAL "STUNT."

Sir,—I take no interest in plays or playgoers, though I must confess that the fierce controversy that has raged around "The Idol's Eye" has almost persuaded me to take a ticket to see what wickedness Lieutenant Orosco can have perpetrated. I was, however, much interested in your correspondent "Fair play's" naive confession of ignorance as to the meaning of the word "stunt." I should be glad if any of your readers (I appeal especially to the American ones) could throw any light on the derivation of this word. The verb "to stunt" of course means to "arrest development," or "keep small." I first remember hearing the word "stunt" applied as a noun in connection with what they call "road work" in boxing training. Can it be that it originally referred to the efforts of boxers to wrestle with the flesh and keep within the limits of their boxing classes i.e. light weight, feather weight etc. "Fair play" connects the word with the musical hall. There again, it might have some connection with its original meaning. For instance, if we stunt a full fledged "drama," one can imagine the result being a "sketch" and so on. The word now appears to be applied to any specific act and has become very general in its application. The term "chuck a stunt" meaning to "give a display" is mysterious. Perhaps my suggestions are rather far fetched. I should be glad to know of better. Yours etc.,

His Worship:—I will make an order that the police hold the opium whilst I consider the matter.

Mr. Heywood:—As it pleases your Worship.

His Worship:—When will you be here again?

Mr. Heywood said he would appear to-morrow.
